

CACR RESOURCE LIBRARY SUBMISSION CRITERIA, PROCESS & DISCLAIMER

Welcome to the CACR Resource Library, a collection of patient education and program administrative resources provided by CACR member programs and friends.

One of the objectives of the CACR is to act as a forum for the exchange of information within Canada. The resources in this online library are available to CACR members to help further this aim. It is designed as a medium for the sharing of patient education and program administrative documents for those interested in tools and resources to enhance their cardiac rehabilitation programs.

Content

The Resource Library content is restricted to material with the following features:

- 1) Consistency with the CACR Canadian Guidelines for Cardiac Rehabilitation and Cardiovascular Disease Prevention.
- 2) Based on evidence and best practice
- 3) Non-commercial, free-of-charge
- 4) Authored by a reputable organization

Content will be reviewed by the CACR Professional Development Committee prior to posting on the Resource Library to ensure the above CACR criteria are met. If you are interested in posting resources to this website, please use the CACR online Library Submission Form.

The CACR may modify, discontinue or restrict the use of any portion of the Resource Library, including the availability of any content, at any time and without notice or liability.

Use of Material

While material posted to this site is available for reproduction, it is highly recommended that, if you wish to republish text or image materials, you contact directly the organizations or individuals noted as content sources for permission and further direction. The Resource Library will not assist you in securing permission to reproduce materials.

Use of this material is strictly for non-profit cardiac rehabilitation programs for administrative assistance and professional or patient educational purposes. Any sale or resale of the material contained in this Resource Library is strictly prohibited, other than by the original authors.
